Our Spring Reunion is coming up in March. Our Director of the Work, Skipper Young, has had a health scare. What we will be doing for the Spring Reunion is in question but I will keep you updated. Please wish the best for Skipper.

The Feast of the Paschal Lamb will be in April. The Feast is a celebration honoring the brothers we have lost this year.

Also please find the Scottish Rite breakfast schedule below, all brothers and their friends and families are invited.

The Men and Munchies meetings have been going very well. Every meeting a different brother has been presenting a topic that is of interest to him. It may be a hobby, it may be a life experience, whatever the presenter thinks may start a conversation. We all have strengths and weaknesses and we are bound to aid, support and protect each other. It is hoped these meetings will put the Brother back in Brotherhood.

I am also looking for brave souls to give presentations at the Men and Munchies meetings. In doing so you will help brethren get the most out of their membership. Thank you Don't judge the young through the prism of age, you were dumber at one time too.

Light In Masonry

The Rite of Destitution

Nothing in Freemasonry is more beautiful in form or more eloquent in meaning than the First Degree. Its simplicity and dignity, its blend of solemnity and surprise, as well as its beauty of moral truth, mark it as a little masterpiece. What we get out of Freemasonry, as of anything else depends upon our capacity, and our response to its appeal; but it is hard to see how any man can receive the First Degree and pass out of the lodge room quite the same man as when he entered it.

What memories come back to us when we think of the time when we took our first step in Freemasonry. We had been lead, perhaps, by the sly remarks of friends to expect some kind of horseplay, or the riding of a goat; but how different it was in reality. The whole meaning of initiation, of course, is an analogy of the birth, awakening and growth of the soul; its discovery of the purpose of life and the nature of the world in which it is to be lived. The lodge is the world as it was thought to be in the olden times, with its square surface and canopy of sky, its dark North and its radiant East; its center an Altar of obligation and prayer.

Indeed, we have so long linked charity with the giving of money that the word has well-nigh lost its real meaning. In his sublime hymn in praise of charity, in the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians, St. Paul does not mention money at all, except to say "and although I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing." Which implies that a man may give all the money he possesses and yet fail of that Divine grace of Charity. Money has its place and value, but it is not everything, much less the sum of our duty, and there are many things it cannot do. A great editor sent the following greeting at the New Year: "Here is hoping that in the New Year there will be nothing the matter with you that money cannot cure. For the rest, the law and the prophets contain no word of better rule for the health of the soul than the adjuration: Hope thou a little, fear not at all, and love as much as you can."

Surely it was a good and wise wish, if we think of it, because the things which money cannot cure are the ills of the spirit, the sickness of the heart, and the dreary, dull pain of waiting for those who return no more. There are hungers which gold cannot satisfy, and blinding bereavements from which it offers no shelter. There are times when a hand laid upon the shoulder, "in a friendly sort of way," is worth more than all the money on earth. Many a young man fails, or makes a bad mistake, for lack of a brotherly hand which might have held him up, or guided him into a wiser way. The Rite of Destitution! Yes, indeed; but a man may have all the money he needs, and yet be destitute of faith, of hope, of courage; and it is our duty to share our faith and courage with him. To fulfill the obligations of this Rite we must give not simply our money, but ourselves, as Lowell taught in "The Vision of Sir Launfal," writing in the name of a Great Brother who, though he had neither home nor money, did more good to humanity than all of us put together - and who still haunts us like the dream of a Man we want to be.

Worshipful Brother, Jim VanDeHey

Circle the dates of May 17th and June 10th through September 3rd on your calendars. Why?? you are probably asking.

The Northeast Wisconsin Masonic Library/Museum (housed in the lower level of the Northeast Wisconsin Masonic Center) is participating in two events open to the public that are designed to bring awareness of the Masonic fraternity.

May 17 is the History Treasure Tour sponsored by the Brown County Federation of Historical Organizations. From 4 to 8:30, doors for many of the 16 organizations will be open to the public - free of charge - for a opportunity to see their respective holdings. The Northeast Wisconsin Masonic Library/Museum will be participating in this event. While the Library/Museum is our primary focus, tour guides will be available to "show off" our building. If you are interested in being a tour guide for the building, please contact the Library/Museum Director, Alice Byrnes.

June 10 through Sept 3 the Neville Museum in Green Bay has contracted with the Grand Lodge of Washington, DC to display a collection of paintings by Peter Waddell. "The Initated Eye: Secrets, Symbols, Freemasonry and the Architecture of Washington, DC" explores the Masonic ideals and design implicit in the fabric of our Nation's capital. From the ideas made manifest in stone to the carefully defined vistas linking the famous heroes who were also Freemasons. The linitated Eye offers an intriguing architectural and historical perspective by combining artist Perer Waddells' paintings with the seldom seen Masonic artifacts.

The paintings are on loan from the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of the District of Columbia with additional artifacts seldom seen from the Northeast Wisconsin Masonic Library/ Museum, located at 525 N Taylor St., Green Bay.

The Neville Museum is located at 210 Museum Place, Green Bay WI 54303
